

Hey there, Mr. Miscavige!

I received information about you forcing OT7:s into security checks that costed them a lot of money. I also know that you tricked friends of mine into believing that large, fancy buildings is the thing for the future. I know that you want money, money, money!

Let me tell you about myself:

- I attested OT7 after six months of solo auditing and I did not go back to the level, I received life changing gains and my faith in the philosophy is stable as a rock. You did not make me doubt it
- On my route to OT7-completion I did one security check which lasted less than 40 minutes, no more. I made it to attest just before you turned the level into a money-trap
- I paid for a lifetime membership with IAS. I knew it wasn't LRH's intention and I fought against it for some time but finally I gave in to the nagging from registrars. This was in 1986
- Total donations to IAS after 1986: ZERO
- Total donations to Super Power: ZERO
- Total donations to the library project: ZERO
- Total donations to the Ideal Org-project: ZERO
- Sum of all donations after 1986: ZERO

Instead of giving it to your off-policy ideas, I spent money towards my own life and because of this I have been fortunate to spend more and more time on art, so today I am a fulltime painter and writer, which was my dream.

Because of me keeping the money I have been able to create a good condition for myself and my family. This too means much to me: My marriage is going into its sixteenth year and my wife and I have a great time together.

I am sure you are not pleased with me, Mr. Miscavige. I never did contribute much to your power plan and I would say that I am actually making it harder for you right now. This makes me feel good.

Long live freedom! Long live the higher conditions!

Stefan Tunedal

9 Mar 2010